Woodcuts, Title "Kaparot ritualas (Kaparot)" Pencil signed on the bottom right to read "S. The life in a shtetl portrayed by the artist can become a perfect source of historical studies into Jewish customs, which reveals to us the life that existed in Juvenishki more than a 100 years ago. A similar open approach to the surrounding world is characteristic of the artist's works portraying life in his new home "the artist's colony in Safed, Israel, where he moved to in 1962. Only here a market place is not surrounded by small shtetl houses but by buildings of several storeys made of sandstone and the market stands are rife with ripe fruit. Showing his work in Juvenishki for the first time since his death is a symbolic coming back to the source of his inspiration. Presenting it at the Vilna Gaon State Jewish Museum is a well-deserved consecration as well as a contribution to the commemoration of the history of Jewish life in Lithuania. H: 15 in. L: 13 in.
